How this document was made. Every message in the exports above was counted month by month (chart and table below). For each month, an AI model read the text of that month's messages and picked one or two short excerpts of consecutive messages that show the relationship: plans, visits, family, money, the wedding or the application. Intimate content was left out. Each excerpt keeps the message numbers of the original export, so it can be found in the full chat. Messages and voice messages in each excerpt were machine-translated into English; the translation is printed under the original. Voice messages inside an excerpt were transcribed by an AI model. The excerpts are a selection, not the whole conversation; the full exports are kept by the applicants.

Calls: WhatsApp export does not include a call history, so calls are not counted here. A screenshot of the call log can be added separately.
